

Website Maintenance

Aerial Communications offers website maintenance and updating to their clients in the form of per hour or per month contract with a one year contract. First month's fee is waived when a 2 year maintenance contract is signed. All work is billed monthly.

Maintenance includes revising, editing or otherwise changing existing web pages to keep you website up to date. The periodic addition of new web pages is also a part of maintenance services.

If you believe you will be making regular changes to your website over time, you can save money by purchasing a website maintenance contract. A maintenance contract is for a one year term, and is non-refundable. The monthly charge for maintenance is based on the size of your website at the time the contract is signed. A maintenance contract allows you to update an online newsletter, to highlight different services on a rotating basis, or to promote time sensitive programs, services or workshops.

Under our maintenance contract, you are entitled to make an unlimited number of text revisions to existing web pages. This does not include redesigning web pages, or adding, deleting or editing graphics on the web pages.
